

LOADING your bike

It is YOUR responsibility to load and unload your bike.

Before stepping on front of the bus, approach the door from the curb and tell the driver you'll be using the bike rack.

If the rack is up, squeeze the handle at top center and lower it.

Lift your bike and place both tires inside the wheel trays. The front tire should face the black rubberized support arm.

Always load bikes into the position closest to the bus, leaving the outer rack for a 2nd bike.

Extend the black rubberized support arm and raise it over your front wheel.

Lower the arm near your bike's fork, releasing the tension. Give your bike a quick shake to make sure it's secure!

RETRIEVING your bike

Before exiting the bus, remind your driver that you need to unload a bike.

Extend the black rubberized support arm and lower it back over your wheel.

Lift your bike off of the rack.

If the rack is now empty, squeeze the handle at top center and raise the rack to its stored position.

Give the rack a quick shake to ensure it has locked into place.

When you are clear of the bus, wave to the driver to signal you are done.
